D- WRITING

Parents are the pillar for the future of their children. Yet it can't be denied that: "Children from a broken family can't have a bright future". What might be the reasons proving that? Let's analyse it below.

Both parents and children try to survive because they are a broken family. With this situation, parents must get up earlier and go back home later to subsidize their family needs. So, they don't have much time to take care, to rise, to talk, to love, to educate their children.

	In addition, time is money for them. Because parents may be a single parent or separated parent or divorced parent. Thus, it's a bit difficult situation to give them a better future cause they lead a hard life family. We can conclude that children from a broken family can't have a bright future.
